track2wing project

The Anisfield Wilson Track2wing Project purchases Action Trackchairs for individuals with mobility challenges who either currently train or hunt with bird dogs or who would like to do so. Track2wing encourages the use of these chairs for all outdoor activities although the core of our mission is to provide access for bird and waterfowl dog owners to pursue their wingshooting lifestyle.

How it works

- Individuals interested in a trackchair submit an application and two letters of recommendation from outside the applicant's family. One of those letters must come either from someone familiar with the applicant's involvement in hunting or hunting dogs, or, if the applicant is a member of NAVHDA, RGS/AWS, or PF/QF, the letter can come from his or her local chapter. A statement of financial need or medical documentation may be requested by Track2wing depending on the number of applicants each year.
- A 6-person advisory committee reviews the applications and selects the trackchair recipients. Track2wing LLC places the orders with Action Trackchair and puts the recipients in touch with dealers to select accessories and spec the chairs.
- Along with the trackchair, Track2wing provides an allowance for accessories such as arm rests, gun rack, head rest, and charger upgrade. If a trailer is needed, Track2wing will pay up to $750 for a trailer purchased from the Action Trackchair dealer.
- Usually the trackchair will be ready in 8-10 weeks after the order and specs are placed. Track2wing pays for shipping, set-up and training by the dealer.
- The recipient owns the trackchair and is responsible for additional accessories and/or expenses not covered by the warranty. The trackchair owner also is responsible for any repair costs after the warranty expires. The recipient will be asked to sign a liability waiver and financial release for costs others than those covered in the initial purchase.
- If or when the trackchair is no longer needed, Track2wing would like to encourage owners to contact us, so we can return it to Action Trackchair to be refurbished and reused.

Applications are open January 1, 2024 to March 31, 2024.
